Overview

This project builds on previous Entrust support to fight human trafficking. It leverages relationships with Thai law enforcement, anti-trafficking organisations and faith communities to make targeted impact in preventing child trafficking in a major hot spot. Prevention campaigns will target migrant children, villages/schools in northern and eastern Thailand and schools in urban areas. The project supports outreach events together with three Trafficking Prevention staff. It will continue to optimise its on-line presence as traffickers shift their methods to coerce and trap children.

Impact for March 2023 - August 2023

Individuals engaged through in-person outreaches

The curriculum has been enhanced to be more interactive and to address the current trends of trafficking. Traffickers move fast, often adapting.

Student awareness and understanding of trafficking issues and prevention measures continues to be measured and is showing good signs of understanding

74.4%

20,894 User views online

This is well above the initial target of 5000 and continues to provide an engaging online presence and another mechanism to relay information.

Training of Leadership students as advocates

Entrust's partnership enables the Prevention Team staff to equip their Leadership students. Student relationships often facilitate the connection with remote communities, resulting in more advocates from rural areas as students graduate and return to these locations.

- New relationships are being formed outside of Chiang Mai and Mae Hong Son. There are possibilities to expand the outreach program into the province of Kanchanaburi (western Thailand) and the Isaan region (eastern Thailand). There have been two outreaches in Mae Sot, near the Myanmar border, for the first time in six years.
- Pastors, school officials, village leaders and prominent officials have been empowered by outreaches, training and investigation assistance and continue to request further support to help prevent trafficking.

Reflections...

"We would like to express our sincere gratitude for providing comprehensive training on anti-human trafficking to the students of the Learning Centre. Your training undoubtedly has helped us in many ways, such as perspective on the human trafficking scenario and understanding how dangerous it is to our children and adults. Furthermore, because of your interactive training, we have gained knowledge and fundamental steps in preventing and combating the human trafficking. Thank you for using your voice and skills to raise awareness such as giving training, advocate for change and support the victims of human trafficking." - School Director
